

PROPOSITION B

Missouri PTA has historically supported increased funding for education. At this time, additional funds are required not just to improve education in Missouri's schools, but to maintain the current level of service. Therefore, Missouri PTA does endorse and encourage the passage of the proposal known as Proposition B which will provide a much needed infusion of revenues into Missouri's educational system through additional taxes.

Proposition B is far more complex than increased funding for public schools. A number of educational reforms are included which merit careful individual consideration. Extensive public debate is necessary to understand the full implications of each of the proposed reforms and their impact on public education in Missouri.

In conclusion, Missouri PTA believes that it is important that parents, educators, and community members together address the different ways children learn and how funding and structure of school systems can provide the best education for all children. In addition, Missouri PTA encourages its units and councils to provide information regarding Proposition B so each Missouri citizen can make an informed decision when voting on November 5, 1991.
